If you are an online student, in what country do you plan on taking your online courses? Canada

All prospective online students are required to complete the following as a condition of enrollment. The University of Michigan is relying on the accuracy and truthfulness of this certification in assessing your legal eligibility to enroll as a student in an online program. Please check your answers carefully before submitting.

Export Controls

The University of Michigan (U-M) cannot provide services, including online education, to individuals located in comprehensively sanctioned countries or regions as administered by the U.S. Department of Treasury, Office of Foreign Assets Control (OFAC). Additionally, U-M or its partners may block access to additional countries and regions where there are near-comprehensive sanctions and a perception of increased risk for export control violations. The list of countries and regions where U-M does not currently offer services, which may be subject to change, is as follows:

- Crimea, Donetsk People's Republic and Luhansk People's Republic regions of Ukraine
- Cuba
- Iran
- North Korea

By selecting "I agree" below, you certify, with regard to the countries and regions listed above and as this list may have been updated as of the date of this certification (collectively, the "Embargoed Countries"), that:

- you do not currently reside in and do not, while a U-M student, intend to reside in any of the Embargoed Countries;
- you are not acting on behalf of (directly or indirectly) any of the Embargoed Countries;
- you will not reexport any technology, software, or educational content made available to you through your affiliation with U-M to any of the Embargoed Countries; and
- you will promptly notify the U-M department that administers your online program of any planned travel or relocation to any of the Embargoed Countries that occurs while you are a U-M student or while you otherwise have to the online tools, materials, and resources U-M provides to its students.

☑ I agree

The U.S. Department of Treasury, Office of Foreign Assets Control (OFAC) also administers sanctions programs that are [illegible] prohibit U.S. organizations, including the University of [illegible] specified group/regime) officials, employees, agents, or contractors in or from the countries or regions designated. Certain individuals may also be personally subject to sanctions programs regardless of affiliation if included on a blocked persons list. More information about sanctions programs administered by OFAC is available on their Sanctions Programs and Country Information site.

By selecting "I agree" below, you certify that:

- you have reviewed any applicable sanctions programs linked above and determined that you are not subject to their restrictions; and
- to the best of your knowledge, you are not subject to any U.S. export control blocked persons list, such as OFAC's Specially Designated Nationals and Blocked Persons (SDN) List, or otherwise subject to U.S. sanctions or export control restrictions.

☑ I agree

Please choose one of the options below:

○ I will be primarily physically located inside of the United States while completing my online program.

◉ I will be primarily physically located outside of the United States while completing my online program.

You understand that your admission to an online program does not qualify you for a student visa or other visa in the United States.

☑ I agree

You understand that the credential you would receive (e.g., degree or certificate) by successfully completing this online program may not be recognized outside of the United States. You further understand that it is your responsibility to research whether the credential would be recognized in other countries if this is a concern for you.

☑ I agree

You understand that certain tools and technologies used in online courses may not be available in all countries or may be subject to temporary outages due to U.S. export control restrictions or foreign government firewalls and content filters. While U-M will make reasonable efforts to accommodate students who experience such interruptions, students located in certain foreign jurisdictions may experience more frequent technical difficulties and access limitations to educational content and experiences due to circumstances beyond U-M's control.

☑ I agree

To support U-M's export control [illegible] or routine international background screening procedures to verify that you are not subject to U.S. sanctions programs.

Notice and Uses of Recordings and Materials

As part of your participation in online courses or programs at or through the University of Michigan (the "University"), the University will make and use photographic, audio, video, or other recordings (the "Recordings") of you, your voice, and your likeness. This also may include your personally identifiable information, education records, and use of the online interface. Recordings may include work product and other materials, whether or not copyrighted by you or others, that you make available as part of your participation in online courses or programs at or through the University (the "Materials").

The Recordings are necessary for your participation in University online degree-granting courses and will be used internally and externally during and after your enrollment for purposes related to instruction, evaluation, classroom participation, conflict resolution and academic integrity, among others. Recordings and Materials may also be shared with University officials and third parties acting on behalf of the University in connection with administration of online courses and programs.

You understand that the Recordings belong to the University, you will not receive payment or any other compensation in connection with the Recordings, and the University is not obligated to use the Recordings.

THE RECORDINGS WILL NOT BE USED FOR MARKETING, PUBLICITY, OR PROMOTIONAL PURPOSES, UNLESS YOU CONSENT IN A LATER QUESTION.

By selecting "I agree" below, you certify that you have received the above notice regarding the uses of recordings and materials in online courses.

☑ I agree

Optional Consent to Make and Use Recordings for Certain Purposes

Without limiting the scope of the notice provided in the previous question, you hereby consent to the use of the Recordings for marketing, publicity, or promotional purposes and disclosure of the Recordings to third parties for such purposes. If the Recordings include Materials, you authorize the University to reproduce, distribute, publicly perform, publicly display, and make derivatives of the Materials in connection with the Recordings. You also authorize the University to use the Recordings, your name, and any Materials and biographical information you provide to the University in perpetuity, anywhere, in any medium, for marketing, publicity, or promotional purposes.

You understand that your consent is voluntary and that you may withdraw your consent at any time by submitting a written statement to the University. You also understand that withdrawing consent will not affect your standing as a student, nor has already been produced.

For additional information as to how the University treats your information, including the Recordings, and for additional information relevant to individuals located in the European Union, please visit https://umich.edu/about/privacy/ (https://umich.edu/about/privacy/).

By selecting "I agree" below, you are offering your consent for the University of Michigan to use the Recordings for all additional purposes described in the notice above. You understand that offering this consent is optional and will have no impact on your eligibility for enrollment.
